

The Asian Forest Cooperation Organization (AFoCO) is a treaty-based intergovernmental organization that is committed to strengthening forest cooperation and taking concrete actions to promote sustainable forest management and address the impacts of climate change. Through action-oriented practices, AFoCO aims to contribute to the global goals of increasing forest cover and implementing the Paris Agreement on climate change. AFoCO is a Permanent Observer to the United Nations General Assembly and an ODA-eligible International Organization enlisted under the OECD-DAC.

VISION & MISSION

AFoCO envisions a greener Asia with resilient forests, landscapes, and communities. This will be achieved through enhanced cooperation in climate change adaptation and mitigation, sustainable forest management and livelihood improvement programs. Under the broader scope of climate change impacts, AFoCO will promote and undertake action-oriented forest cooperation programs and projects to achieve its mission. For sustainable forest management, AFoCO works to rehabilitate degraded forest land and address deforestation and forest degradation. It also explores common interests and positions among the member states as a unique intergovernmental organization in the forest sector.
